IPCCC 2021 Call for Workshop Proposals

The 40th IEEE International Performance Computing and Communications Conference (IEEE IPCCC 2021) will be held in Austin, Texas, USA, October 29--31, 2021. In addition to the main conference's technical program, IPCCC 2021 is soliciting proposals for one-day workshops to be held in conjunction with the main conference. Workshops on any topic related to the broad set of research and application areas covered by the IPCCC conference are welcome, particularly on topics that represent new research areas and directions. The workshops will be an integral part of IPCCC 2021 and will be fully incorporated into its logistical and budget planning process. Workshop papers will be published in the same set of proceedings as the main conference, and available on IEEE Xplore. At least one author of each accepted paper is required to register at the full registration rate, and needs to present the paper at the workshop. No-show workshop papers will be excluded from the conference proceedings.

COVID-19 Statement

We are closely monitoring the COVID-19 pandemic and the guidelines from IEEE, WHO and US/Texas/Austin CDC. Currently, we intend to host IEEE IPCCC 2021 in person, but will provide flexible presentation and attendance options to authors under travel restrictions such as remote virtual presentations. All presented papers will be included in the conference proceedings and published in IEEE Xplore.

Workshop proposals should include the following material:

- A statement of title, scope, and topics of the workshop
- A description and rationale for the workshop topics and its relevance to the IPCCC community
- A statement of interest for co-locating the workshop with IPCCC
- A draft call for papers
- Tentative committee lists
- Background information on past instances of the workshop, if any
- Expected number of submissions and accepted papers
- Expected numbers of attendees

Proposals should be submitted to the workshop chair by email as ASCII or PDF files only.
